

Jennifer Curtet

Jennifer Curtet is burning up the highways across the country with her powerful workshops and keynotes. Her energy and passion have won her rave reviews from audiences from coast to coast. She delivers seminars packed with real-world, practical skills, tempered with her own engaging mixture of warmth and humor. As an author and speaker, Jennifer is a master storyteller and is sure to leave you breathless and inspired. She spent a decade as a leader in the finance world working for a Fortune 100 company. As a Trainer and Manager for Morgan Stanley Dean Witter she was responsible for writing, developing and delivering training programs that are to this day required curriculum for all levels of leadership. She soon capitalized on her talent for developing people and parlayed that into a very successful business venture. As a devoted mentor, Jennifer has committed her life to developing excellence in others. She has been a Speaker for the Make-A-Wish Foundation and has most recently co-founded a nationwide nonprofit program for teenage girls. Girls Rule™ is an empowerment program designed to build self-esteem, develop communication and leadership skills, encourage safe choices and create personal success. Jennifer's passion and persistence has inspired the hearts and minds of hundreds of thousands across the country to rise up and fulfill their destiny.
